

Conservative treatment of cervico-isthmic heterotopic pregnancy by fine needle aspiration for selective embryoreduction

曾啓瑞

Hsieh BC;Seow KM;Hwang JL;Lin YH;Huang LW;Chen

HJ;Tzeng CR

摘要

Abstract

An unusual case of a heterotopic cervico-isthmic pregnancy after IVF treatment occurred in a 34-year-old woman. Transvaginal ultrasound-guided aspiration of the gestational sac for embryo reduction was safely used to manage the pregnancy and preserve the intrauterine fetus.

.